TIP O'NEIL IN CAPITAL AND PRAISES TOM HUGHES

Western Association President Thinks "Long Tom" Can Come Back--Also Strong for Johnny Beall--Other Sporting Gossip.

By WILLIAM PEET.

Tip O'Neil, president of the Western Association of Baseball Clubs, arrived in Washington yesterday morning to spend a few hours with his brother, C. J. O'Neil, of 314 Second street north-east.

Tip, in his pleasing, Western, straight-from-the-shoulder manner, had a whole lot to say to the writer which will interest local fandom.

First of all, O'Neil declares emphatically that Tom Hughes, who helped Joe Cantillon win the pennant for Minnesota, of the American Association, will greatly surprise Washingtonians when he goes into the box next spring. This is what O'Neil says:

"I followed Hughes' work closely all last season, because I happen to know him personally and like him immensely. Tom was easily the best pitcher in the league, and every American Association manager told me they could not understand why the Washington club ever let him get away."

"Can he come back?" the writer asked. "I should say he could; that is, if he keeps himself in condition. You know that Tom is his own worst enemy. There is no use minding words, Tom likes to go out with the boys and have a good time, and frequently he has been known to drink a bit too much. But things have changed. Hughes climbed onto the water wagon just as soon as the Minneapolis club started its spring training, and to my personal knowledge did not drink a drop of alcohol all season. His grand record speaks for itself, for he virtually won the championship for Cantillon's team."

O'Neil also speaks in glowing terms of another ball player Washingtonians like to hear about, Johnny Beall, who first made his reputation at Technical High School, and who this past season was the idol of the Denver (Colo.) fans.

"Great ball player, and one of the finest fellows in the world," is O'Neil's tribute to Beall.

"Why, if Beall had started in with the Chicago White Sox and put up such a game as he with Denver this season, Coakley would never have parted with him in a million years," O'Neil added.

According to President O'Neil, the only trouble with Beall is that the youngster does not hit his true playing form until he has been playing a couple of weeks, and this is perhaps due to the fact that Johnny has little opportunity to get the kinks out of his muscles before it comes time to report.

From Washington Mr. O'Neil goes to New York on business and will then head back to Chicago, where he makes his headquarters.

President O'Neil will take the Boston Red Sox to the Pacific Coast next March and is figuring on a pleasant trip.

BEST PRACTICE YET

Georgetown 'Varsity and Scrubs Lock Horns.

ENTHUSIASM RUNNING HIGH

Mass Meetings Planned to Stir Up Interest in the Virginia Game. Workout on Hilltop Yesterday Fast and Furious--Scrubs Beat 'Varsity, Three Touchdowns to One.

At no time this year has such a hard afternoon's work of practice taken place as that which was handed out to the Georgetown squad yesterday afternoon for an hour and three-quarters, and although the 'varsity had an off day and were beaten by the scrubs, three touchdowns to one, still Head Coach Nelson and his assistants were gratified with the evening's work. One favorable aspect was the large number of men out, this being especially the case with regard to the second squad, under the direction of Coach Cox. Ever since the Pittsburgh game there has been a steady falling off in daily reporting for practice until things began to take on a serious aspect. Yesterday there being barely two elevens on the field. What the cause of this lack of spirit was is not known, but the coaches got busy, and, as a result, three strong elevens were on hand yesterday afternoon, and the hardest football of the season took place.

The second eleven was much strengthened by the presence of two men of the 'varsity squad, Kerwin, in the line, and Carrigan in the back field. The former was a tower of strength on the defense, and more than once broke through the 'varsity line and upset the runner before he got started. Carrigan, on the other hand, tore things up on the offense, skirting the 'varsity ends, getting through the line, and making two of the touchdowns for the scrubs. The other points came for the second eleven when McNamara came on the bell back of his opponents' goal, after Hicks had blocked one of Walsh's kicks by breaking through the line.

Dunn Scores for 'Varsity.

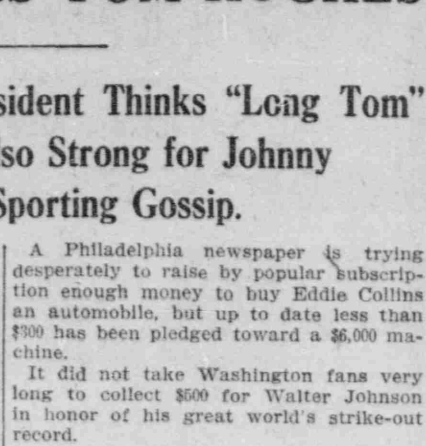

The 'varsity score came when Dunn, by consistent work, put the ball over after it had been rushed the distance of the field. At present Dunn is playing more consistently than any of the back field men, his running mate, Furey, not showing up so well. Quinnlan was given a birth on the squad yesterday, and although it was his first day, he showed up well, and when he masters the signals more fully will be a valuable acquisition to the back field.

Another man who from this on will be a regular is Kelly, who has won his position by the hard work he has put in. At full back he has been regularly going through the 'varsity line, and no one on the 'varsity hits the line harder. Yesterday he played a remarkable game for the scrubs, and his breaking up of interference was the best seen on the hilltop gridiron this year. Although rather light for this position, he hits the line low and hard, and it would not be at all surprising to see him make good as first choice for full.

Lamberton, who has been out of the game for some time, was used against the scrubs, making several good gains.

The three men who are out of the game at present are Capt. Dailey, Haggerty, and Costello, who will hardly be in shape for the Virginia game. Both Dailey and Haggerty are expected out this afternoon, as the former returned from home last night, greatly benefited

ONE OF CARLISLE'S BRAVES.

NEWASHE, Who is putting up fine game in Indians' backfield.

The moving pictures showing the world's series of baseball games are being displayed at the various moving picture show houses in Washington. The writer happened to drop into one of the theaters yesterday, and was agreeably surprised. Everything is to be seen. The many preliminaries, always necessary for an event of this kind, are clearly shown, as are the various plays. The pictures are well worth seeing.

Under the title, "Little Journeys," the St. Louis Times hands out the following: "Waddell, George Edward; Better known as 'Rube.' Age, 35. Height, 6 feet 11-1/2 inches. Weight, 165 pounds. First attained prominence in Milwaukee in 1896, where he acquired a taste for the product that he contributed largely to the fame of that city. Same has stuck. Went to Louisville in 1897, taking his acquired taste with him, wrapped in a neat package. Finding the sudden change from corn to corn did not agree with him, he went to Columbus in 1898. Not finding the fishing to his liking there, he went to Pittsburgh in 1900, but jumped to Chicago the same year. The Windy City not furnishing ample scope for his varied talents, he drifted to California. From here he is on his way to St. Louis, where he is expected to play for the Athletics in 1902. Remained with the Athletics until 1907. Was purchased by Col. Hedges, of the Browns, in the spring of 1908 for $50,000, and paid for himself the first game. Remained in St. Louis until the latter part of 1910, when he was traded for Newark, N. J., and sent on his way rejoicing. His career with St. Louis is too well known to require a lengthy recapitulation here. He was divorced and remarried in St. Louis in 1910. The 'Rube' showed an inclination to be domestic in his habits until one night, being in a playful mood, he laid his bride by the heels and proceeded to play crack-the-whip. This marked his domestic finish. He was haled before Judge Pollard, who signed him up to one of his famous probationary pledges. The 'Rube' is a famous penman and will sign anything. 'There are lots of worse fellows than 'Rube' Waddell running at large at that. It was his misfortune to be born young. He never got over it. He is a child of nature, and that's no kid. He has a grand batting average of seven eighths. His favorite ball is a high one inside. His career with Newark will be watched with interest."

by his rest, and Trainer Quirk stated that the crack end was again in good shape.

Enthusiasm Runs High.

Enthusiasm is already beginning to show itself among the student body, as mass meetings will be held both at the college and the law school this evening, while next week at least two will be held, both at the downtown and college departments to practice songs and yells for the Virginia game.

The present staff of coaches will be further augmented next week when McGowan, one of the best quarters ever turned out at the West End school, and Dugan, Pullen, of the '08 team, will join the ranks. Much interest is being shown by the alumni over the country, many of whom have signified their intention of being on hand for the game.

There will probably be another scrimmage this afternoon, as the team will not get much practice on Saturday, due to the fact that Virginia plays here, and Coach Nelson and the Georgetown team will be on hand to size up Virginia's weak spots.

AUTO RECORD IS SMASHED

Burgman and Dawson Stars of Atlanta Race Meet.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 3.—Joe Dawson and Bob Burgman were the stars of the speedway meeting to-day. Dawson broke the local track record from one to ninety-nine miles, and Burgman did sensational work in the ten-mile free-for-all. Dawson Atlanta trophy race, distance 30 miles. The stores gave a half holiday.

His nerve shaken by the deaths of two partners within one year, victims of the racing game, Johnny Altlin, one of the world's greatest auto pilots, has decided to quit following the example set by a number of other drivers. Just what he will do he has not decided. To-day he was a pallbearer at the funeral of Livingston.

Fearing possible injury to Ty Cobb, President Navin, of the Detroit American League club, wired the champion batter to-day that under no circumstances must he take part in the races at the speedway.

The danger is too great, and Detroit cannot afford to take a chance," wired Navin. As a result of the telegram, the Cobb-Rucker events have been called off for Michigan. A big surprise would be if Michigan didn't wallop the Catholics good and hard.

It's an open secret that John Kling, the Cubs' catcher, joined hands with Fletcher some time ago in the scheme to secure the best players for the "new league." But since Kling's slump in the world's series it is said that he has decided to stick to the Chicago club. It was originally planned to place Kling at the head of a new club in the Windy City.

An interesting and hard-fought football game will be played at National Park this afternoon between teams representing Eastern and Business high schools, and the outcome will decide third place in the high school series.

A wet, soggy field will greatly help the Stenographers, as Business, according to the weights published above, will have it on the Capital Hill boys about eighteen pounds to a man. On the other hand, a dry field will give Eastern a chance to work tricks and use their speedy backs.

On form, Business should win, but Coach Donnelly may have something up his sleeve, and Eastern will slip one over if the Stenographers are not strictly on their jobs.

Strange as it may seem, there is the feeling of utmost confidence at both schools. Members of the Business team to a man are cocksure the Orange and Blue will triumph, while Capt. Parker and his scrappy benchmen are just as certain that Eastern will repeat the dose they handed Western two weeks ago.

Coach Donnelly, of Eastern, made the statement last night that in his opinion Business would have to put up a better game against his team than they showed against Central, or Eastern would win. Coach White, of Business, has worked hard with his charges since the Central game, and considerable improvement has been shown.

If comparative high school scores are taken into consideration, Business should win by one touchdown, as Central won from Eastern 20 to 0 and Business 17 to 0. Although Eastern showed much better team work against the O. Stretchers than Jack Glass will retire and Tom Kirby will umpire. The game is called for 2:30 o'clock.

LITTLETON WINS LEADING EVENT

Carter Ham Trouble Patched Up by Jockey Apologizing.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 3.—It was winter racing this afternoon, for after the rain of this morning it turned very cold, and those who neglected to bring along heavy wraps had an unpleasant afternoon of it.

The track was heavy, but, contrary to general expectations, scratches were few and the racing was fairly interesting.

The Oldsmobile Purse was the day's leading event, and Martin W. Littleton won his third straight race by leading all the way and winning easily from Bahler, Cherish, the favorite, ran a dull race and finished last.

The Carter Ham-Starters Dade trouble was patched up to-day by Hall apologizing for the trouble that he had made. Two jockeys were suspended for bad rides yesterday. McCabe, who had the mount on Perthshire, was set down for the meeting, and Liebert, who rode Royal Oxyd, had his hedge taken away from him this morning and was ordered off the grounds.

INDIANS WORK HARD

Carlisle Braves in Poor Shape at Present.

PLAY IN CAPITAL SATURDAY

Capt. Houser Unable to Get Into Practice This Week and Assists in Coaching--Coaches Feel Team May Go State Before the Big Games to Come--New Men Show Up Well.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 3.—Capt. Houser, of the Carlisle Indian football team, has been out of practice all of the week on account of his bruises received in the Penn game, and has assisted in the coaching, devoting special attention to coaching Newashe for the full back position, he having been changed from left tackle to the captain's old position because of the latter being unable to play.

Newashe is new to the full back position, but has the weight and speed to play there with experience and coaching. Lone Star, who has recovered from his injuries received in the Syracuse game, is again able to play, and has been well for green man, it is felt that Houser is able to return to his position at full back, when it is likely that Newashe will again resume his old position and Lone Star will be placed at either right tackle or end.

Kennery, who has been out of the game for a couple of weeks with a bad ankle, has nearly recovered the use of his leg, and although he has lost much valuable practice, he is still a contender for the position at right end with Bracklin and Lone Star. Bracklin went into the Penn game with practically no experience, and while he did remarkably well for a green man, it is felt that a more experienced man is needed for this position against Virginia in Washington next Saturday.

There had been somewhat of a slump this week, which is natural, considering the recent hard Pennsylvania game. There was no practice on Monday, but scrimmages were held on Tuesday and Wednesday, in which a number of the regulars were unable to participate, owing to their bruised condition, but the substitutes never had a chance to show what they can do, and after their long lay-off, have shown considerable spirit.

The practice has been fast and much improvement has been shown in their work.

It is realized that the Indians have been weak in covering and handling the opposition, and considerable attention has been devoted to correcting this serious fault. The injury to Aracasa last Saturday in the first play of the game, which nearly was a severe blow to the team, because the latter had to be removed from the game with his shoulder in worse condition than it had been any time this year, and probably he will not be able to play again unless by careful nursing he may be able to play part of the Brown game. Aracasa has nearly recovered, but his head is in bad shape and he can hardly see out of one of his eyes.

It is felt by the supporters of the Indians that if the team can be kept from going back after their hard game with Pennsylvania that they stand a good chance of winning the remainder of their games, and if they can only finish the season with a better record than last year's team. It is the aim of the coaches and players to work for this end during the remainder of the season.

EDDIE COLLINS MARRIED.

Athletics' Second Baseman Weds Miss Mabel Doane.

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—Eddie Collins, the Athletics' phenomenal second baseman, to-night became a benedict. Surrounded by his teammates in the pretty little home of the bride at Oakview, near Clifton Heights, he was wedded to Miss Mabel Doane. Collins and his bride-to-be were of the opinion when they set to-day for their wedding day that they would beat out Connie Mack by several days, but these calculations Connie shattered to pieces when he quietly slipped away last Wednesday week and married. About 100 guests were present.

Miss Doane is a graduate of the Friends Select School of Lansdowne.

Cardinals Play For Hunt.

Alexandria, Nov. 3.—Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, on the North Alfred street grounds, the Cardinals will have their opponents the heavy team from Port Hunt. The Cardinals held their last practice yesterday.

This game will no doubt prove every bit as interesting as last Saturday's, as the Port Hunt boys have been playing fast and heavy teams and making good showing, and the Cardinals will again be compelled to rely upon their speed to bring them victory.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS.

The second and only international races will be held in Savannah November 11 and 12. Two years ago the same grand prize race was won by the world-famous driver, Wagner, in a Fiat car, beating Henry by fifty-four seconds in a Benz, and these two speed kings, after a lapse of two years, have again returned to Savannah to compete for the trophy. In the light car race the prize is a gold cup valued at $5,000. It is a challenge trophy and can only be held by the winner until next year's race on the same elegant course that Savannah has prepared for this year's event. The cash prizes to the drivers for this event are $4,000 to the winner, $2,000 to the driver who comes in second, and $1,000 to the driver who comes in third.

In the light-car race the prizes are first for those cars whose engines measure from 230 to 299 cubic inches piston displacement, the Savannah challenge trophy, which was won three years ago by the Isotta, another Italian car and driven by Louis Strang. This trophy is a magnificent one, standing twenty-seven inches high on an ebony base and made of sterling silver costing the Savannah Club $2,000. At the base of this trophy are several bales of cotton made in silver, and this is a challenge trophy representing a donation of one of these bales is given to the winner, with his name engraved on same, and this becomes his personal property. In addition to this, the driver who comes in first will be presented with $1,000. The second event on the first day will be for the Tiedeman trophy, a very handsome cup of shaped design, for those cars whose piston displacement is from 198 to 229 cubic inches, and the driver who wins this race will also be presented with $1,000. In addition to all these prizes the Savannah Automobile Club is now considering the presentation of $1,500 to the American car which comes in first in the grand prize race.
